

MONKEY BUSINESS

NEWS FLASH

Lawyers acting for Bubbles, the Chimpanzee friend of the recently deceased pop icon, Michael Jackson, have launched legal action against the Jackson estate. In the writ Bubbles makes a number of allegations including sex offences called "Spank the Monkey" and a claim for millions of dollars in unpaid royalties from his playing days with The Monkey's and the Chipmunk Punks. But that's not all. There's also a paternity suit. Bubbles claims to have had intimate relations with Debbie Rowe and wants their child to know where he sits in the family tree. That child was Michael Buble.

This astonishing development is sure to generate plenty of attention. Gossip columnists have been trying to speak with God who couldn't be reached but his spokesperson, Mr. George Burns confirmed that Michael Jackson had arrived at the Gates of Heaven but was later turned away. This is what the spokesperson had to say :

"Michael was heard singing I'm Bad, I'm Bad as he was climbing the Stairway to Heaven. When he Knocked Knocked on Heavens door God told him to Beat it, just Beat it and suggested he take a long hard look at the Man in the Mirror. Michael looked and saw a person neither Black nor White and on his way down to hell was heard singing My Bad, My Bad..."

AP